Patricia A. Williams Obituary

Patricia "Neechie" Williams, born September 8, 1969, in Mobile, Alabama, to Betty Samuel & Moran Asberry, passed away on June 24, 2024, at the age of 54. She left behind a legacy of love, laughter, and unwavering generosity.

Patricia was a devoted mother, sister, daughter, aunt, and friend whose radiant smile and boundless heart touched everyone she met. She began her life in Mobile, AL where she grew up with her beloved sister and cousins. As a child, she was very playful and made many friends. She hated riding her "Debo" bike her mother bought her and all pets after being bitten by a dog, but she loved to tease her sister and cousin Anthony playfully.

Her journey took her to Georgia, where she married Jason Williams. Together, they raised six children. After their divorce, Patricia's loving nature welcomed three more children into her life. As the mama bear she was, she took in another son as her own, making her the proud mother of ten. She loved all of them uniquely and unconditionally.

A woman of many talents and passions, Patricia determinedly pursued her dreams. She proudly earned her G.E.D. and attended culinary school before finding her calling as an OB-GYN nurse. She cared deeply for her patients, providing comfort and support during some of the most significant moments of their lives.

Patricia's zest for life was infectious. She loved to dance and listen to blues and oldies, and her favorite artists included Prince and Gerald Levert. Her favorite movie, "Gone with The Wind," echoed her appreciation for timeless classics. Whether at a party, dancing with her nephews, or spending time with family and friends, Patricia's joy for life was evident to everyone who knew her.

Her greatest accomplishment was being a mother and a grandmother. She cherished her role as a nurturing figure, always putting others before herself, and her home was a haven of love and warmth to anyone who needed her.

She loved to cook, fish, dance, and enjoy the company of her loved ones. Her last birthday wish was to visit a casino with her mother, a testament to her spirit of adventure and desire to create joyful memories.

Patricia is survived by her mother, Betty Samuel; sister, Millie Stonewall; aunts, Patricia Miller and Rachel Stonewall; cousins, Lois Jones; Inez Robertson and Jackie Parker; children, Tynesia Stonewall-Williams; Leanna Williams; Deanna Williams; Jason Williams; Jordan Williams; Austin Williams; Tria Ridley; Brianna Johnson; Victor Johnson; and Corey Harris; son-in-law, Jarvis Williams; nephews, Rashard Stonewall; Patrick Stonewall; Grenay Stonewall and Kendrick Stonewall; nieces, Kristen Stonewall and Jade Stonewall; grandchildren, Quavas Williams; Zaylen Williams; Jaiden Williams; Micheal Rucker; Jalia Williams; Jaleigh Williams; Sanaa Rucker; Jaxon Williams; Makenna Williams and Cameron Waters.

In her ascendant home, Patricia is reunited with her grandson DJ Williams, cousins Lewis Anthony Stonewall and Tamara Jones, and great-aunt Millie Adams, who preceded her in death. Now, she joins them in heaven.

“Soar, my angel, spread your wings and soar.” Patricia's life was a testament to love, resilience, and the power of a generous spirit. Her memory will forever be cherished by the many lives she touched.

Services to celebrate Patricia's life will be held at Cremation Care of GA on 6/29/24, where family and friends will gather to honor and remember the incredible woman she was.
